PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

Seeking an entry-level position in Information Technology where I can apply my skills in full-stack development, gained through my internship at Samsung Research Team on a Workflow Management project using React and C#. I aim to contribute to innovative solutions in a collaborative environment while continuously enhancing my technical expertise and professional growth.

INTERNSHIPS

Full Stack Development Intern

Samsung Research Team

July 2025 – Jan 2026

- Developed and enhanced front-end modules for a workflow management system using React.js, improving user experience and functionality.
- Contributed to the backend by building and maintaining services with C# and .NET, focusing on API integration and data handling.
- Collaborated in an Agile team of 12 to debug issues, optimize application performance, and ensure on-time project delivery.

ACADEMIC PROJECTS

Document Scanner using OpenCV

Technologies: Python, OpenCV

- Engineered a computer vision-based Document Scanner in Python and OpenCV that automates the digitization of physical documents.
- Applied image processing techniques such as grayscaling and adaptive thresholding to improve the clarity and readability of the scanned output.
- Enabled exporting the final document in multiple formats (PNG, JPG, PDF), making it suitable for digital archiving and OCR applications.

Automated Shopping Cart

Technologies: RFID, NodeMCU, Arduino IDE

- Designed and built a proof-of-concept IoT smart cart using RFID and NodeMCU to create a frictionless, automated checkout experience.
- Implemented real-time data transmission between the NodeMCU and a central database to dynamically track items and calculate the total cost.
- Integrated an LCD screen to provide the user with a live display of scanned items and the running total, enhancing the shopping experience.
